ENDODONTIC CONSENT & INFORMATION

Endodontic treatment (root canal therapy) involves cleaning, shaping, disinfecting, and filling the root canal(s) of a damaged or diseased tooth. The canal is the space inside the root, which contains developmental tissue. Although this tissue is removed, live cells remain on the outside of the root, and the body continues to recognize the tooth as alive after treatment. Multiple visits may be necessary to complete treatment.

This form serves as your consent for a Commonwealth Endodontics provider to evaluate and/or treat you as a patient. Treatment may not be initiated today. However, it is important that you are informed of the procedure(s) being considered and all potential outcomes, whether treatment occurs on this visit. Please review the following:

1. Success Rate & Limitations
   Root canal therapy has a 90–95% success rate; retreatment success is 80–85%. Endodontics is not an exact science, and no guarantee of treatment success can be made. Additional treatment or extraction may be needed if post-treatment issues arise.

2. Previous Treatment
   Endodontic treatment started or completed at other offices may have different outcomes than expected under optimal conditions.

3. Restoration Is Required
   After treatment, contact your general dentist promptly to schedule permanent restoration. Your restorative dentist will place either a filling or a crown on your tooth. The filling that we place for you is only temporary.

4. Possible Complications
   Risks include: Swelling, soreness, infection, trismus (limited opening), tissue discoloration, tooth fracture, instrument separation, root perforation, under- or overfilling of canals, sinus involvement, damage to existing dental work, blocked or curved canals, resorption, or calcifications.

   Local anesthetic is used to numb the area. Though rare, complications may include swelling, bleeding, infection, prolonged numbness or tingling (possibly permanent), muscle cramps, trismus, rapid heartbeat, and allergic reactions.

5. Existing Restorations (Crowns, Bridges, Inlays/Onlays)
   These restorations may need replacement after treatment if decay is present or if the restoration is compromised during access. In most cases (95%), treatment can be completed through existing restorations without issue. However, if damage occurs, the patient is responsible for replacement costs. Commonwealth Endodontics is not responsible for fabrication or payment of new restorations.

Note: All services at Commonwealth Endodontics, including root canal therapy, retreatment, and apicoectomy, are non-refundable.

By signing below, I acknowledge and accept the above risks. I consent to being evaluated by a provider at Commonwealth Endodontics and understand that if I accept the proposed treatment plan and choose to proceed, I am giving my consent for endodontic treatment to be performed, including the use of necessary anesthetics, medications, and services deemed necessary. Endodontic treatment follows accepted clinical practices, and digital images may be taken before, during, and after treatment. I also authorize the release of my dental records to my dentist and/or insurance company.
